

A Letter to the Citizens of Michigan From the Governor

I am pleased to release the fifth edition of the Michigan Financial Focus, an annual report on Michigan's financial status and the health of our state's checkbook. I hope you will use this report to learn more about the financial condition and operations of your state government.

Fiscal year 2000 (October 1, 1999 - September 30, 2000) marked another successful year for Michigan. Our economy continues to prosper and the state's fiscal health remains strong.

- Since 1991, 31 tax cuts have saved Michigan taxpayers and businesses $19 billion through the 2001 fiscal year.
- The personal income tax is being reduced from 4.3% to 3.9% over the next four years. For the tax year 2000, the income tax rate cut from 4.3% to 4.2% saved taxpayers $184 million.
- To further reduce our tax burden to business owners, in July 1999, I signed a bill that will phase out and eliminate the Single Business Tax (SBT). The SBT rate is being reduced by 0.1 percent each year until it is completely phased out in 2023.
- At September 30, 2000, the General Fund reported an "unreserved" fund balance of $211.8 million and the Budget Stabilization Fund's (BSF) "unreserved" fund balance was $1.26 billion. The BSF continues to be one of the largest rainy day funds in the nation.

- Education continues to be the state's highest priority and total state and local K-12 spending will exceed $14.2 billion by fiscal year 2002. Prior to Proposal A, inequities in school funding ranged from $3,400 to $10,300 per pupil. By the year 2003, education spending in all districts will climb to $6,700 per pupil.
- In June 1999, I signed the "Michigan Merit Award Scholarship Act" into law. The Michigan Merit Award Scholarship is a new merit-based award of $2,500 for high school students who meet or exceed state standards on the Michigan Educational Assessment Programs High School Test. Over 42,000 students in the Class of 2000 qualified for the award.
- Nearly 200 elementary schools across the state were awarded the first-ever Golden Apple Awards in 2000. The awards are based on student performance on the Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) tests and provide schools with $50,000 to be used for school improvement.
- My welfare reform plan — "To Strengthen Michigan Families" — has trimmed welfare rolls by two-thirds and helped more than 270,000 families leave cash assistance because they found jobs and earned paychecks instead of welfare checks.
- Unemployment taxes for employers were cut by $200 million for the year 2001, marking the sixth year in a row these taxes have been cut.

- Michigan's unemployment rate was better than the U.S. rate for 69 consecutive months. Michigan's annual average unemployment rate is down from 3.8 percent in 1999 to 3.4 percent in 2000, the lowest unemployment rate in state history.
- Last fall, Wall Street bond credit rating agencies Standard & Poors, and Moody's Investors Service recognized Michigan's financial strength by awarding our state their highest credit ratings possible. With these prestigious upgrades, I am proud to report that Michigan's fiscal management is certified to be among the nation's best.

Revenues & Expenditures

Costs for Michigan's general governmental operations are accounted for in the General Fund and 34 Special Revenue Funds. Total revenue and other sources of funds for the general governmental operations for fiscal year 2000 were $36.9 billion. The two largest revenue components include taxes of $22.9 billion and revenues from the federal government comprising another $8.6 billion.

Personal income taxes of $7.6 billion are the largest tax revenue source for financing state government expenditures in fiscal year 2000. Sales taxes of $6.3 billion are the second largest tax collected by the State and single business taxes of $2.3 billion are the third largest tax revenue.

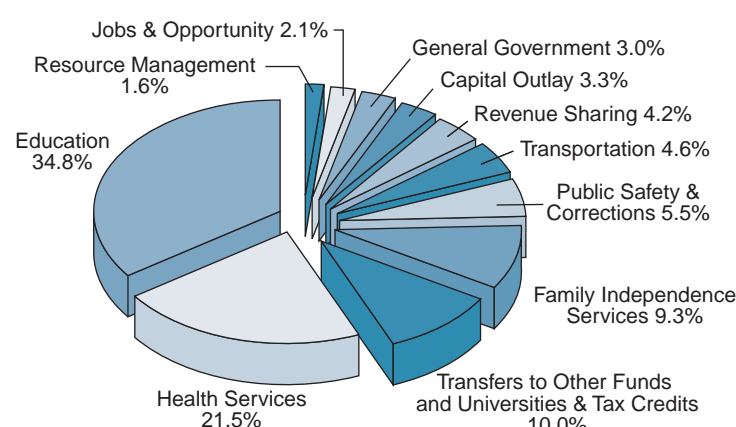

Expenditures and operating transfers of funds for governmental operations totaled $35.8 billion of which $13.1 billion supports K-12 and higher education and $7.7 billion supports health services.

The accompanying graphs show the breakdown of fiscal year 2000 revenues and expenditures, including transfers to and from other funds, and other sources and uses of funds. For more information regarding revenues and expenditures, please review our SOMCAFR by logging on the Web site: <http://www.state.mi.us/dmb/ofm>.

Budget Stabilization "Rainy Day" Fund

Michigan's "Rainy Day Fund," formally referred to as the Counter-Cyclical Budget and Economic Stabilization Fund (BSF), was established in 1977 to serve as the State's "savings" account. The fund balance has increased from $20 million in 1992 to $1.26 billion today.

During fiscal year 2000, the fund received transfers of $100.0 million from the General Fund. The General Fund transferred $37.1 million for anticipated personal income growth as required by P.A. 124 of 1999. At final book closing, the General Fund transferred a portion of its unreserved fund balance, $62.9 million, to BSF as required by P.A. 506 of 2000.

During fiscal year 2000, BSF transferred $32.0 million to the School Aid Fund to pay money damages to school districts and intermediate school districts as required by P.A. 144 of 1997. The transfer of $100.0 million to the State Trunkline Fund was made to fund a portion of the Build Michigan III program, pursuant to P.A. 189 of 2000, Section 358.

Maintaining a healthy reserve in the Rainy Day Fund impacts the State's credit rating, which helps reduce borrowing costs and spurs economic growth. This year our credit ratings were upgraded - see related articles. In addition, the fund provides a safeguard to protect critical programs for Michigan's citizens should the State experience an economic downturn.

Welfare Reform

Michigan's welfare reform program continues with outstanding success in reducing welfare caseloads and helping families achieve independence. Michigan's commitment to assisting low-income families is demonstrated by the increase in state spending of nearly 25 percent from fiscal year 1995 to 2000. Michigan has shifted priorities from "poverty relief" to programs that help families move from welfare to the workforce.

Michigan's Family Independence Program (FIP) caseload has declined by more than 155,000 cases or 70 percent since September 1992 when Michigan began its welfare reform program.

Michigan's cash assistance reform program is embodied in Project Zero, a statewide initiative to ensure that 100 percent of adults able to work are employed. Between September 1997 and November 2000, 81 of the 103 project sites have reached full employment.

FIP families pursuing independence receive more than cash assistance services. The Work First program assists families in obtaining employment and improving job skills. Families may also receive services to address non-work issues affecting their ability to pursue independence from public assistance.

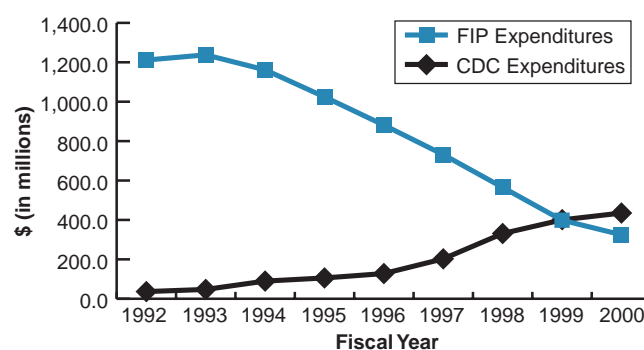

In addition, families who no longer qualify for cash benefits can receive other support services including child day care and ongoing medical assistance. In fiscal year 2000, FIA invested nearly $435 million in childcare services for low-income families.

Health care needs of low-income children are an important part of family independence. Serving nearly 250,000 children, the Healthy Kids program is a Medicaid program for children in low-income families. Children in families earning less than 200 percent of the poverty standard may qualify for MIChild, a low-cost health insurance program.

Michigan's Electronic Benefits Transfer program (EBT) started in October 2000 and will be expanded statewide during 2001. Families may access cash assistance and food stamp benefits on a debit card at banks and grocery stores. This popular program improves security and is convenient for families and retailers.

Education

Education spending, which includes K-12 and higher education programs, remains the single largest category in the State's budget, accounting for $13.1 billion of total state spending in fiscal year 2000.

Since fiscal year 1998, the State has spent more each year on K-12 education than was spent in the entire General Fund/General Purpose budget. Total state and local funding for schools is projected to exceed $13.5 billion for fiscal year 2001. Total state and local K-12 spending for schools for fiscal years 1991 through 2000 has consistently outpaced inflation.

The Administration continues its commitment to ensuring that higher education in Michigan is accessible and affordable to all current and future students. Total State spending for Michigan's 2-year and 4-year higher education institutions and student financial aid programs amounted to nearly $2.1 billion in fiscal year 2000, an increase of 47 percent since fiscal year 1990.

The Department of Education's Web site is <http://www.mde.state.mi.us>.

Future Outlook

In 2000, Michigan's economy continued to grow and the U.S. economy performed exceptionally well. The current expansion became the longest economic expansion for the State and nation ever recorded in U.S. history.

Michigan's employment is expected to decline slightly by 14,000 jobs in 2001 due to the slowing U.S. economy and the employment growth in 2002 is forecasted to accelerate by 45,000 jobs. Inflation in Michigan should remain moderate at 2.8% in 2001 and 2.9% in 2002. Real Michigan personal income, adjusted for inflation, is forecasted to grow 0.6% in 2001 before accelerating to 2.3% in 2002. Light vehicle sales are forecasted at 15.9 million units in 2001 before rebounding to 16.4 million units in 2002. The U.S. real gross domestic product is expected to grow 2.5% in 2001 before climbing to 4.3% in 2002. Consumer prices, as measured by the U.S. consumer price index, are forecasted to rise 2.7% in 2001 and 2.8% in 2002 as energy prices moderate.

With each budget, the Administration prioritizes its spending for the future. In the Fiscal Year 2002 Executive Budget, the Administration will aggressively hold to the policy of restraining government spending and reducing taxes for its citizens despite the slowdown in the economy forecasted in 2001 and 2002. The expected savings from controlled government spending will provide additional resources for high-priority needs. The Web site to view the Executive Budget is <http://www.state.mi.us/dmb/budget>.

e-mi Placing Government Services at Your Fingertips 24/7!

The e-Michigan Office was established by Executive Order in May 2000 to lead the State in reinventing and "Web-ifying" the way the state provides services to its customers. The State's core customer groups are businesses, citizens and State employees. The e-Michigan Office is responsible for leading initiatives to provide each of these customers with personalized, cost-effective, on-line services at their convenience—24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

The foundation for reinventing the State's service delivery to customers will be the launch of the new Michigan Web portal this summer. This portal will structure services around the needs of customers and will eliminate the need to know the structure of state government in order to access information. This new customer interface and the underlying technologies will make Michigan the most advanced State government in Web services delivery.

The Web portal will provide a new look-and-feel that will be common across all State and agency Web sites. Although it will continue to provide visitors with links to individual State agencies, the main feature of this new site will be the organization of all services by common themes such as business services, education, health and family wellness, professional licensing, and travel and recreation. For example, customers interested in traveling in Michigan will go directly to the "Travel & Recreation" sub-portal to receive travel-related information currently maintained by several departments.

Another exciting feature of this summer's initial portal release will be the ability for visitors to customize their view. For example, they may want to see a list of all State press releases related to senior services and all Lottery numbers from the past month. Customers will—on a voluntary basis—be able to indicate these preferences so that they are shown this information each time they return to the site.

Although the State portal is one of the most visible e-Michigan projects occurring in the State, there are many exciting new Web services being developed across and within agencies. The Family Independence Agency is piloting an electronic forms program that will allow customers to view, complete and submit forms on-line without having to stand in line. The Department of Natural Resources and the Michigan Economic Development Corporation will soon provide on-line harbor reservations and golf tee-time reservations. The Office of Services to the Aging just launched the MiSeniors.net, which provides content and search capabilities concerning services and information that are important for senior citizens and their caregivers. Other web services such as on-line hunting and fishing licenses, and on-line campground reservations system were launched last fall and have been received very positively.

A high priority initiative, e-Michigan benefits all Michigan customers—businesses, citizens and State employees. To keep up-to-date on e-Michigan projects and progress, visit <http://www.state.mi.us/migov/e-michigan>.

e-Michigan Benefits for Michigan Customers

- Conduct self-service transactions with Michigan 24 hours per day / 7 days per week
- Access information and services on-line without having to wait in line
- Personalized Web experience with Michigan government
- Focus on customer need, not structure of state government
- Enjoy a common look-and-feel to all Web sites
- Conduct license renewals, invoicing, payments and forms submission in minutes rather than days or weeks

Transportation

Michigan's road repairs continue on a fast track with record investments from the Governor's Build Michigan II and Build Michigan III plans. Since enactment of Build Michigan II in 1997, over 4,400 miles of roads and over 800 bridges have been improved on the state trunkline system. Motorists and commercial interests are now experiencing the results of record construction seasons in 1998, 1999, and 2000.

By employing a road and bridge strategy that provides for a balanced program of reconstruction, resurfacing, and capital preventive maintenance, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) has been able to more effectively target repairs to system needs. This focus on fixing the worst roads and bridges first is moving MDOT closer to its goal of having 90% of roads and bridges in good condition by 2007.

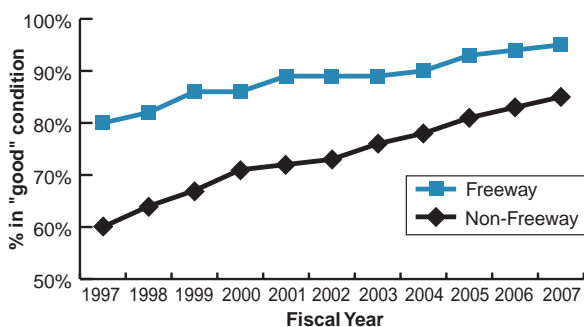

Last spring, the Governor gave the green light to an innovative new Build Michigan III program that will accelerate and advance several key economic development and congestion relief projects. It provides for the immediate investment of nearly $1 billion in key transportation projects, which are over and above those included in MDOT's traditional five-year plan.

Financing for the Build Michigan III program is provided by a $100 million fiscal year 2000 supplemental appropriation, approximately $800 million from the issuance of bonds, and an estimated $100 million in statutorily required local match.

Minimizing motorist inconvenience during the delivery of these record construction programs has been a key priority for MDOT. Many high-impact projects now include a "corridor approach" that coordinate road, bridge, and other repairs in the same construction season. Increased night work, opening more lanes to traffic during construction, providing performance incentives for early completion, and aggressive public information campaigns to let motorists know the location of construction activity and alternative routes are all customer-focused initiatives MDOT has implemented.

The chart below shows MDOT's goal of having 90% of roads and bridges in good condition by 2007. Additional information regarding MDOT's projects and programs is available at www.mdot.state.mi.us.

Michigan Road Improvements on Target

Michigan Economic Summary

The economy in Michigan continued to thrive and grow in calendar year 2000. As described below, many economic indicators in Michigan remain positive:

Business Placements—For the fourth consecutive year, Michigan has been awarded the Governor's Cup by Site Selection magazine for attracting the most business placements among the 50 states. In 2000, 2,358 businesses made the decision to locate in Michigan.

Upgraded Ratings—In 2000, Wall Street bond credit rating agencies Standard & Poor's and Moody's Investors Service recognized Michigan's financial strength by awarding our state their highest possible credit rating. Standard & Poor's upgraded Michigan to AAA and Moody's upgraded the state to Aaa. The new ratings will allow the state to borrow money at a lower rate, thus saving Michigan taxpayers money.

Fiscal Management—In a joint effort by Governing magazine and Syracuse University, their study ranked Michigan's state government as one of the best managed in the nation. Michigan's rating went up from a B+ in 1999 to an A- in 2000. The study assessed the state's money management, property management, human resources, results management and information technology to determine the final rating. Only two other states received the A- rating, and no state received an A.

Job Growth—For the five-year period ending in 2000, Michigan created more jobs than any other Great Lake state.

Population—Michigan continues to attract people to live in our magnificent Great Lake state. Over the last decade, the population grew 6.9%.

Unemployment—Michigan had an average unemployment rate of 3.4% in 2000, while the U.S. average unemployment rate was 4.0%. The state was below the national average for the 69th consecutive month and the state's unemployment rate has been below 4% for three consecutive years.

Michigan and U.S. Average Unemployment Rates

Bolstering the Economy—The unemployment tax was cut by 10 percent for calendar year 2001. This action was possible due to the large reserve in the state's unemployment insurance trust fund and because the state's low unemployment rate had kept withdrawals from the trust fund relatively low. This was the sixth straight year employers received unemployment tax relief.

Revenue Sharing & Census 2000

Michigan's revenue sharing program distributes a portion of state sales tax revenues to over 1,800 local governmental units, allowing communities to determine how best to fund local services. The Department of Treasury expects to distribute $1.57 billion in unrestricted financial support during fiscal year 2001—a 7.4 percent increase from fiscal year 2000 for this program.

Payments to local communities are based on a constitutional obligation and state law. Population plays an important role in determining how both obligations are distributed among governmental units. The constitutional portion, estimated at $648.7 million, is distributed entirely on a per capita basis to cities, villages and townships. There is no budgetary discretion involved with constitutional distributions.

The remaining $921.3 million is distributed according to state law, the total of which is subject to annual appropriation. Payments to cities, villages, townships, and county government are based on four statutory formulas - each containing a population factor within the respective calculations.

These statutory formulas, signed into law by Governor Engler in January 1999, establish a more equitable distribution formula for local units than previous methods.

The changes eliminate incentives for local government taxation, equalize disparities in revenue raising capabilities, and recognize the wide variety of services provided by local governments of different sizes and types.

The release of 2000 population data by the U.S. Census Bureau will significantly impact revenue sharing payments beginning in fiscal year 2001. Ten-year-old population data will be replaced with the Census 2000 data that will result in revised payments for each community. The Michigan Department of Treasury and the Office of the State Budget have assisted local governments in planning for payment fluctuations. Estimated payments, using estimated 2000 population information, are intended to minimize surprises for communities experiencing low population growth. The actual impact of official 2000 Census data will be released in Spring 2001. Any adjustments, along with a final assessment of sales tax revenue collections, will determine final 2001 revenue sharing payments to each local community.

More information on Michigan's revenue sharing program is located at the Department of Treasury Web site <http://www.treas.state.mi.us>. Population and demographic information is available through the Office of the State Budget at <http://www.state.mi.us/dmb/budget>.

Financial Reporting and Fiscal Oversight

The State of Michigan uses sound accounting practices, called generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), to account for all assets, liabilities, revenues and expenditures of the state. This detailed accounting information is maintained within the Michigan Administrative Information Network (MAIN) system. Using MAIN, the Office of Financial Management prepares and publishes the State of Michigan Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (SOMCAFR). The report is audited by the Legislative Office of the Auditor General.

For the fiscal year ending September 30, 2000, all state departments remained within their appropriated budgets and the state's total fund balance in the General Fund was $2.1 billion of which $1.9 billion is reserved for specific programs or activities.

In June 1999, the Governmental Accounting Standards Board promulgated a revised reporting model that will significantly affect how the State will report its information in the SOMCAFR. The new model will restructure the financial statements in the SOMCAFR with the goal of having the government report its operations more like a business enterprise. Michigan began work on this project in 2000 and will implement this model in the SOMCAFR for fiscal year 2001, one year ahead of the required deadline.

For the thirteenth straight year, the State achieved the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting award from the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) for the 1999 SOMCAFR. GFOA also presented Michigan its fourth consecutive Award for Outstanding Achievement in Popular Annual Financial Reporting for its 1999 publication of the Michigan Financial Focus, which was issued in 2000.
